

DANCE

THE WORLD AT YOUR FEET

APRIL 2012

THE CHOREOGRAPHY ISSUE

plugged in THE LATEST IN ALL MEDIA

iPhone apps

Heard about the great Carmen De Lavallade but never seen her dance? Read Deborah Jowitt's writing but never met her? Ever wanted to see the floating port de bras of Christine Redpath, ballet mistress at NYCB, or the torquing shoulders of Molissa Fenley? Now you can watch some of our most glorious dance artists in action, with the Dances for an iPhone app. It's brought to you by Richard Daniels, who has choreographed small bits tailored to each dancer. In a studio setting with natural light, we see each revered artist glide through Daniels' choreography or staging. Right now there are about 10 dancers we can hold in the palm of our hand, but Daniels plans to add more. At a talk at Jacob's Pillow last summer, De Lavallade effused, "This one little dance has gone around the world, and I'm just in awe of that." Download the app for free at the iTunes store. —Wendy Perron

NERVOUS?
GOOD.
YOU'LL DANCE
BETTER

SASCHA
RADETSKY
MY ROAD TO RECOVERY

